

The Aragonese Agency for Research and Development Foundation (ARAID) has resolved its 2024 international call for the incorporation of excellent researchers in Aragon. The board of trustees of this entity, attached to the Department of Employment, Science and Universities, in its session 3/2024, on July 18, has agreed to hire eleven new ARAID researchers to develop their scientific career in Aragon and contribute to strengthening the R&D&i in our territory.

For the 2024 call, 67 applications were submitted, from thirty community centers, with a female participation of 31% and a high proportion of international applications, from researchers who are researching outside Aragon or Spain and aspire to work in Aragon.

After the external selection process and the interview phase, twelve hiring offers were sent, of which eleven researchers will finally be incorporated in different areas of knowledge and Research Center as detailed in the table:
